Finding and organizing information and interpreting information needs called librarian. And I think this is the composition of this organization. It is interesting to note that the PAARL caters to two types of library composition, the academic and research libraries or it can be both. The academic library is located at the campuses of colleges and universities and serves primarily the students and faculty and other academic institutions while research libraries are intended for supporting scholarly research and course materials. Moreover, research libraries are most often academic libraries or national libraries. Modern libraries of the world are moving at the cutting edge of the digital and now gearing into the more imaginative and futuristic orientation. The PAARL officers and members can also do their share to modernize the library where they serve by training all the noble objectives of promoting equitable access and effective use of information policy development, better standards of library services and linkages with other similar organizations.

Indeed, most libraries have electronic catalog databases. If there will be no dedicated and committed librarians to do the noble task of helping all library users that ask their assistance, the one stop shop of great ideas and information is in vain. That is why the role of the librarian is very important. The PAARL can still move ahead long, you can promote maximal use of library facilities and vast accumulations. You can help formulate policies to maintain permanent collections and always provide easy access to all necessary materials not to forget the basic task of library management. And to the librarians, both new and old alike, there are always a lot of opportunities to do innovative things with technology, continue to hone your skills as facilitators of knowledge and analysis of tremendous amounts of knowledge. Keep yourself abreast with the various digital tools now used in modern libraries. Likewise, help develop other successful programs and offer free library services with those entities with financial difficulties and help the less fortunate ones. Again, I extend my heartfelt congratulations to the elected officers and 2007 Board of Directors and to our awardees for their contribution to the area of library profession. In behalf of the CEU Administration, I welcome you all to CEU and good day.

Dr. Padolina inducted into office the 2007 Officers and Board of Directors of the Philippine Association of Academic and Research Librarians. Marietta D. Greetings first to our distinguished guests and the members and officers of the organization, Philippine Association of Academic and Research Librarians! Thank you very much for this opportunity to be with you and thank you for letting me talk to you. I don’t know about being the most qualified but it’s a challenge to all of us. Your role as librarian (actually that word librarian is an old-fashioned name). What is the best? Information Professional. That only goes to show how much development there has been in your field. Your field is one of those areas that have really been so much enriched by the development in information and communication technology. You have a very important goal in the present battle cry of all educational institutions and i.e. to work for lifelong learning. So you are the ones who would have a key role in that goal of all educational institutions regardless of the nature. Because nowadays, an organization that does not know how to learn is an organization that is due to fail, so all organizations have that obligation to learn, to be kept informed about what is going on around the world, around the environment and that is why we have terms such as benchmarking. This is again part of what is called lifelong learning largely apply to organizations and programs so your role has really changed and at the same time become more vital but I think you yourselves have to be the exemplars for lifelong learning and that is also why we are very glad to note that even the curriculum for information professionals have also been upgraded. When I was with the Commission on Higher Education when we worked on this particular area of the revised curriculum, I’m very glad to have been part of that as well.

I am a parent who always encourages our children to read. Every Christmas no fail even up to now that our children are already professionals and have children of their own, our children always get a book on Christmas. They can get other things but there is always a book for them on Christmas and it is a tradition that we have kept in our family and I am so glad to have participated in bringing up of our grandson. We have one grandchild and I was with them in the United States for this particular child of ours is based in the United States. I had the pleasure of taking care of him when he was four months old. But even at four months old, I was already starting him on reading books. And if you think that four months old babies don’t appreciate books, I know you yourselves would say that it is not true. I am so glad to know that up to now our grandson seems to have imbibed that. He loves books, he would get his books and give it to you to be read.

I know that this particular skill is decreasing among our students because of the presence of other media that they used. So, naturally our libraries also have to start containing all those other media. But I hope that you as librarians will continue to campaign for reading of books. There is still no substitute to books. When I was with the Open University and we were thinking of various media that can be used for distant education. I would often read that the print medium is still one of the best. The book is still the best that you can rely on. It is the most reliable actually because you don’t need anything other than yourself to operate it and the book is really a good information material. I hope that even other media would become more popular, there would still be a campaign for reading books and really starts from the home. It is a campaign that has to be waged with parents and it is something that the parents will not regret.

One of the things that is a concern among us information professionals is copyright and plagiarism. When you give an assignment to students, nowadays, it is easy for them to cut and paste from information in the Internet so our faculty also have to be aware of these things and to know how to cope with this. That is one thing that is indigenous to us while they bring many benefits, they also bring many challenges to all of us. I am sure that when all of these technologies have started to come in, you were probably a little bit threatened as to how you would fare in this communications technology. There will never be a substitute to the human component in all of these activities, particularly in the activity of learning.

Congratulations to this organization because you have a big role in helping universities achieve their goals of education. I am glad that there such an organization that provides all of these services that librarians need. Looking at the various activities that you have conducted through the years, it is organization that is appreciated by many. To the officers, congratulations and challenges follow to your leadership. Magandang umaga at mabuhay tayong lahat.
Mrs. Marietta D. Molina’s Acceptance Speech
PAARL President 2007

The President, Dr. Maria Cristina Padolina, AVP Dr. Erna Yabut, Director Prudenciana Cruz of The National Library, PAARL’s past presidents, fellow PAARL members, ladies and gentlemen, a pleasant Good Morning.

I don’t know if I am still dreaming, if this is a nightmare, because I never planned to be occupying this highest position of PAARL. I served the association from 1996-1998 as Secretary and two years as treasurer. The position I was holding was a delicate one because handling the finances was not an easy task, but with the proper management of the board of officers, everything went smoothly.

When we had our organizational meeting last December 16, 2006, I met the other members of the newly elected officers and most of them belong to the younger generation. So I thought this would be good, because the association, would have a more younger and energetic leader, but the selection was done according to age. A senior citizen was elected president and the vice-president, Mrs. Loreto Garcia whose age most probably is next to me were chosen by the members of the board of directors. Well, anyway, its here already, whether I like it or not, I have to perform my job as president and of course the other officers will be very supportive to the mission/vision of the association.

We congratulate the previous PAARL Board for the success of all the activities which they undertook under the leadership of Sis. Ignatius Tal Placido. It was a job well done. Let’s give them a round of applause.

To be a member of the Executive board is not a simple thing. It is not enough to say I am the president, or vice-president, but you promise to work for the association. It is a commitment to serve the association without expecting something in return, except the feeling of satisfaction that you did your best to serve PAARL for the benefit of the members.

Last January 8, 2007, we had our organizational planning on what we want to do and offer during our one year term. The following items were taken up:
1. Reviewed the functions of each officer
2. Duties of the different committees
3. Planning for the major activities for the whole year.
   a) Two major seminars will be offered:
      1. Summer conference: tentatively scheduled on April 25-27,2007 and tentative venue : Pangasinan. The committee on Conference is now scouting for a good place where we can hold the conference.
      2. Another major seminar in October 2007. There is a plan to hold it in the south, but we still have to decide on it.
   b) Three forums are scheduled on the following dates:
      1. March 29, 2007
      2. August, 2007- will coincide with the Book fair activity
      3. November, 2007-in celebration of the National Book week
   c) Special Project

With the finished project on “Filipiniana Core Collection in Social Science, compiled by Ms. Florenda Mallari and Elvie Lapuz, maybe we can expand this project to other discipline. Again Ms. Mallari has been voted to chair the Committee on Special Project. Thank you to the committee.

With the assistance of our Council of Experts, we are confident that we will also succeed just like what have been accomplished by the previous leadership.

Rest assured that we will update you with new information or you may open the PAARL website for new information.

At this point, I would like to announce the different standing committee chairmen for the year 2007 and we are confident that they would be more than willing to extend their helping hands in every activity that the present Board would undertake.

PAARL Board Conducts Planning Seminar

Christine B. Arellano

PAARL Board 2007 had a planning seminar in La Colina Resort, Antipolo City last January 8, 2007. Activities and projects for the entire year were set. It was also the venue for initial teambuilding of the new set of officers.

See list of upcoming PAARL activities on page 20 of this issue.

You may also join PAARL's yahoogroup for more updates.

New Appointments

In view of the resignation of Mrs. Lourdes Roman as Secretary of PAARL, Mrs. Marietta Molina, in her capacity as President of PAARL, and with the concurrence of the Board, appointed Mr. Christopher Paras as the new Secretary and Mrs. Lourdes Roman as the new Public Relations Officer effective February 15, 2007.

PAARL donates to PLAI

Christopher C. Paras

PAARL donated (1) unit, 6 cu. ft. Samsung refrigerator to PLAI Office on May 28, 2007. It was requested by Mrs. Susima Gonzales, PLAI President in her effort to revive the PLAI headquarters into a conducive and corporate-type venue for organizational meetings and activities of different library associations. In her letter dated June 12, 2007 addressed to PAARL Board thru its President, Mrs. Marietta Molina, she expressed her deep gratitude for granting her request and assured the Board for its proper use and maintenance.

PAARL presence in PRISSAAP Congress

Loreto T. Garcia

Mrs. Loreto Garcia (Jose Rizal University), PAARL Vice President, was one of the speakers in the Private School Administrators Association of the Philippines (PRISSAAP) Congress and Assembly of School Librarians held last June 22-23 at the Iloilo Grand Hotel in Iloilo City. Her topic was "Standards and Requirements for Basic Education Libraries". Other speakers were Ms. Lourdes David (Ateneo de Manila University), Ms. Corazon Nera (Lyceum and Board for Librarians) and Ms. Perla Garcia (formerly of De La Salle University).
PAARL had a heart-warming forum last March 29, 2007 at the Southeast Asian College, Inc. with Mr. Roberto O. Cabrillas as Speaker. Ms. Sonia Lourdes L. David was the emcee for the forum. It started with the invocation and national anthem led by Mrs. Lourdes D.C. Roman, P.R.O. Mrs. Loreto T. Garcia, Vice-President delivered the opening remarks and the welcome remarks on behalf of Mrs. Edita F. Enatsu, EVP & Treasurer, Southeast Asian College. Mrs. Marietta D. Molina, President introduced the Speaker. Bro. Obet as he is fondly called, is a writer of Kerygma Magazine, Didache and Gabay Daily Reflections. He tackled how love and happiness can lead to a meaningful life. A librarian who found love and happiness exudes joy in serving his/her clientele.

Bro. Obet revealed the secrets to happiness: do not worry, simplify your life, count your blessings (don’t sweat the small stuff), purify your heart, give thanks in all circumstances, discover the joy of serving the Lord and realize that the kingdom of God is within you. Further, he said that “Two of the most beautiful things that the Lord gave us are life and love; therefore we must love life and live love.”

An activity led the participants to reflect on one’s life as a librarian and have something to cherish when feeling low. Mrs. Molina capped the forum with her closing remarks. Indeed, the forum is a meaningful one for it led how to find love and happiness.

PAARL P.R.O. finishes Graduate Studies

PAARL congratulates Ms. Lourdes D.C. Roman for successfully completing her Master of Arts in Education with Specialization in Library Science last March 28, 2007 at Philippine Normal University. She is now the College Librarian of San Beda College – Manila.
118 librarians and library staff from all over the Philippines attended the said conference, as well as publishers and book dealers.

Aside from the added knowledge, participants went home with prizes from sponsors, and new friends among colleagues.

-Christine B. Arellano-
Conference in Pangasinan
As I promised to some of our friends that I would write a series of short articles on my observations, the lessons I learned from, and my comments on the 2007 National Summer Conference on Emerging Trends in Libraries and Information Services sponsored by PAARL in Bo. Tobuan, Labrador, Pangasinan.

But first of all, my warmest congratulations to the officers and staff of PAARL for their efforts, sacrifices, and time just to make this conference a success—especially to PAARL President Mrs. Marietta Delfin Molina for her able leadership.

When I learned from my boss, Ms. Teresita R. Ledesma, that I would attend the 2007 Summer Conference of PAARL in Pangasinan, I immediately checked the internet if PAARL has an egroup, and indeed there is (http://groups.yahoo.com/group/PAARL/). I immediately joined in it.

My first objective was to know if PAARL officers had additional information on the conference aside from the leaflet they sent to our institution. My other objective was to be online with other librarians.

The Opening Prayer

Before the start of the activities of the conference, someone sung/prayed.

Although I failed to get the exact lyrics of the opening song-prayer, I could remember a line like “Make me your servant Lord”.

The Mayor’s Message

After the opening prayer/singing, a representative of the mayor of Labrador, Pangasinan spoke.

In her speech, Mrs. Gloria E. de los Santos said that the mayor could not come to the conference because he was very busy campaigning as he was running for mayor.

The representative said that although Labrador is a small town, the area is peaceful. There are some beautiful places to see. One of which is a white beach. And those who like to visit the area would be brought to the place free of charge. Unfortunately, majority of the group did not like to go there. They preferred the Hundred Islands.

The master of ceremonies, Ms. Loreto T. Garcia, told the group that Labrador has some delicacies like puto. They also have a lot of bangus. They have evergreen mountains.

The Participants

If the number of participants to the Conference is the basis for a successful conference, then the said conference in Labrador, Pangasinan was a success.

All in all, there were 118 participants coming from Luzon, Visayas, and Mindanao. The farthest came from Dipolog City. And the most number of participants came from Saint Scholastica’s College Manila—14.

Significantly, the number of male participants was outnumbered by the female participants.

But it was also observable that there were many beautiful and handsome intelligent young participants. Their talents came when a workshop on research-based decision-making was held at the end of the conference, and in the cultural show that came on the first night of the conference.

So were the senior citizens.

 Melchor F. Cichon is the Head Librarian of the College of Fisheries and Ocean Sciences, University of the Philippines in the Visayas, Miag-ao, Iloilo.

Library Security

The first lecture in the conference was delivered by Engr. John Mark A. Empig of 3M Philippines.

He talked on library security. He first defined security as “the acquisition, organization and distribution of resources (human, physical, monetary) to ensure adequate protection of historical and cultural information of enduring value and access for present and future generation” (Paul Conway).

He said that security means freedom from danger, protection from unauthorized access, loss avoidance, damage prevention, and reduction of long-term threat posed by improper environmental conditions and from the human beings themselves.

To counter-act these threats, the library administrator should establish a security plan on the vulnerability of the library resources, must identify the assets and threats; must evaluate existing policies/procedures, establish priorities, and identify person responsible and areas of responsibilities.

What are these assets? These include books and periodicals, audio-visual materials, archives and manuscripts, computers and electronic resources, and the staff.

These non-human assets can be vulnerable to theft or loss, damage/ destruction by fire, earthquake or flood, and damage by neglect.

To prevent these unnecessary damage of electronic resources, library administrator should establish access policies on physical access and/or intellectual access, free access vs restricted access, open stacks vs. closed stacks, use of passwords for computer access, admittance regulations, who should have access and points of access.

Engr. Empig gave some practical points on how to deter thefts.

He said that librarians should learn to think like thieves; they should install security devices like locks, grills, alarms, cameras, timers. Librarians should engage in close supervision, must conduct surveillance and must put up signages.

Other important points shared by Engr. Empig on library security was to control the exterior of the library by providing close watch of entrance/exits and access points; sufficient lighting; intrusion-detection system, knowledge of physical lay-out and obstructive landscaping.

Still another pointer shared by Engr. Empig was to insure the building and its contents. But one must only insure the marketable items.

To make this advantageous to the library, library administrator should consult appraiser for value and conduct the reappraisal every five years. At the same time, one must know the coverage of the insurance policy.

Before he presented the security system 3M has manufactured, Engr. Empig enumerated the common hazards, both environment and the people themselves: temperature, humidity, light, insects and rodents, fungi, mold, mildew, acid, fire and water.

People can also be a potential hazard as they use ink/pens, and adhesives. They tear the pages of the library materials, they spill food/drink on these materials. And worst of all, they steal library materials.
