List of Partner Companies

Since its inception in AY 1997-1998, the Management and Organization Department (formerly Business Management) has partnered with over 100 institutions in the practical training of over 500 students three times for a period of 12 weeks each. The partnership with industry has stemmed from endorsements by the European Chamber of Commerce of the Philippines or by the initiative of companies, MOD administrators, or students. If a student initiates the linkage, the relationship extends only for one or two academic terms. However, if the partnership was established more deliberately, then there is a tendency for a longer-term relationship.

Below is a listing of companies who have accepted an ACM intern at least on one occasion. In any one trimester, the Department deals with around 10 partner companies to accommodate about 40 students.

1.0 Currently Active Industry Partners

1.1 L'Oreal Philippines (1997-present)

L'Oreal is in the beauty industry and positions itself to be the world's leading cosmetic industry (<http://www.loreal.com>). Their Philippine office has partnered with the Department since the ACM program started in 1997. ACM interns are assigned either in human resources or brand marketing.

1.2 Unilever Philippines (1998-present)

Unilever is a manufacturer and distributor of home goods, food and beverage items, dairy and personal care products. The company has over 400 brands spanning 14 categories of home, personal care and foods products (<http://www.unilever.com.ph>). Their company offers various learning opportunities for ACM students and has become a favorite destination not only for internship but for employment as well. About one-third of all ACM students thus far have interned with Unilever at least once. There are some terms that the company accepts up to two dozen students, assigned in distribution and marketing. Students have also interned in human resources as well as safety, health and environment.

1.3 Chevron Philippines (1999-present)

Chevron Philippines Inc. markets Caltex™ fuels, lubricants and petroleum products (<http://www.chevron.com/>). The company consistently accepts at least one ACM intern per term. Most assignments are with card marketing although students have also been assigned to procurement and star mart merchandising.

1.4 Nestle Philippines (1999-present)

Nestle Philippines is a manufacturer and distributor of food and beverage products, employing about 3,000 individuals (<http://nestle.com.ph/>). The company has been a solid partner of the ACM program. It has been a favorite destination of students who are assigned to varied departments. Half of the ACM students have interned with the company at least once. A good number of students who have been exposed to the working environment at Nestle have decided to start careers with the organization. The company however has refocused its internship requirement thus offering a limited number of slots.

1.5 Pilipinas Shell Petroleum Company (2000-present)

Pilipinas Shell is just one of several Shell Companies located in the Philippines. The company refines, blends, transports and sells a wide range of high quality fuels, lubricants, liquefied petroleum gas, bitumen and other specialty oil-based products (<http://www.shell.com.ph>). There have been at least 150 intern opportunities with ACM students, a bulk of whom are assigned to retail cards sales and marketing.

1.6 Citibank NA (2001-present)

Citibank provides global financial services and has been in the country for a century (<http://www.citibank.com.ph>). The company continues to be a strong partner of the ACM program. The 10-year relationship thus far has provided work exposure to about 100 students, one-fourth of whom have decided to work with the organization. Students are usually assigned at the Global Transaction Services division or in Corporate Banking, although some have worked in operations and in data management.

1.7 Towers Watson (2002-present)

Towers Watson, formerly Watson Wyatt, is a global professional services company that helps organizations improve performance through effective people, risk and financial management (<http://www.towerswatson.com/>). ACM students help mostly in the human resource function. The company consistently accepts a student intern each trimester since they have become a partner. Of 20 graduates who interned with the company, six worked at Towers Watson after graduation.

1.8 Johnson & Johnson (2004-present)

Johnson and Johnson Philippines has been in the country since 1956. They offer a wide array of products in the consumer, medical devices and pharmaceutical sectors (http:// www.jnj.com). Five of 15 students who interned with the company have opted to start their careers with the organization. Most of the assignments of the students have been with human resources.

1.9 Metropolitan Bank and Trust Co. (2007-present)

Metrobank offers a full range of banking and other financial products and services (<http://www.metrobank.com.ph/>). The bank is a relatively new partner company of the ACM program, with the relationship initiated by a student. The HR department trusts in the ability of the ACM students and have thus strengthened their internship program to attract students to eventually work with the bank.

1.10 UBS Securities (2008-present)

UBS Securities provides securities and other financial products and research in equities, fixed income, rates, foreign exchange and commodities (<http://www.ubs.com/>). The organization is extremely lean but management relies on the assistance provided by ACM students either in their research or trading departments. Despite limited headcount, they have managed to hire two of 13 students who interned with the organization.

1.11 Primer Group of Companies (2009-present)

The Primer Group of Companies is engaged in the retail and distribution of the world's top consumer brands in sports gear, travel gear, and footwear (<http://www.primergrp.com/>).
