

STUDENT-THESIS ADVISER AGREEMENT

Students are expected to put their best work into their thesis. On the other hand, faculty advisers are expected to guide students to produce their best work. Both jobs are time-consuming and must be carried out by students and faculty members working together in a disciplined way over a sustained period. It is clear that each party has responsibility to see that the necessary work is completed on time. Thus, a clear schedule of meetings should be set up during the duration of the thesis course.

As students enrolled in the thesis program, we commit to pursue our thesis with perseverance. We agree to work closely with our adviser and to perform the work that is required of us. We will conduct ourselves in a responsible manner and will maintain a professional relationship. We will keep our adviser updated, meet deadlines, and provide enough time for our adviser to review our work.

As thesis adviser, I will mentor these ACM thesis students throughout their thesis course by providing guidance for the preparation and completion of their thesis, by being available for periodic meetings and draft/performance reviews, and by remaining a source of encouragement and support for the students.
