

COURSE CODE: PRCIPRJ

COURSE TITLE: Project Based Practicum for IBS

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This is the first stage of the internship, alternatively known as client engagement. It consists of at least 300 hours of work during which a maximum of four (4) IBS majors work as a group to undertake tasks and see the completion of a specific, time-bound project. The project to be implemented in this course is the one proposed by the interns during their concluded Project Management course and approved by the company representative and the department chair. The project assistants or project-based interns shall be under the supervision of an internship supervisor, an employee assigned by the firm to guide the interns and to serve as consultant for the project.

DEPARTMENT: Decision Sciences and Innovation Department

TEXTBOOK:

- No prescribed text. An internship kit containing the guidelines, forms, and templates will be provided in Canvas. This is a practicum (not a lecture course; no other references/readings required).
