

The Contributors

E. San Juan, Jr. is a emeritus professor of English and Comparative Literature, University of Connecticut, was recently visiting professor of cultural studies at the Polytechnic University of the Philippines. He was previously fellow of the W.E.B. Du Bois Institute, Harvard University; and Fulbright professor of American Studies at the Katholieke University of Leuven, Belgium. His recent books are Maelstrom over the Killing Fields (Pantas Press); Carlos Bulosan: Revolutionary Filipino writer in the U.S. (Peter Lang); Kontra-Modernidad (University of the Philippine Press), Faustino Aguilar: Isang Metakomentaryo (U.S.T. Publishing House), and Peirce's Pragmatism: A Radical Perspective (Lexington Press/Rowman and Littlefield, soon to be released).

Kathrine Ojano currently teaches with the De La Salle University and the University of the Philippines, Diliman. Before this, she has taught with universities in her home province, Nueva Vizcaya, for nearly ten years. In 2021, she obtained her PhD in English Literature with the Faculty of Arts & Social Sciences Dean's Fellowship from the National University of Singapore. In 2012, she finished her MA in Comparative Literature as a Fulbright scholar in Binghamton University-State University of New York (SUNY). Her research interests include world literature, postcolonial theory, committed women's writing, subaltern studies, critical realism, and postcolonial modernism.

Laurence Marvin S. Castillo is assistant professor of literary and cultural studies at the Department of Humanities, University of the Philippines Los Baños. He obtained his PhD at the Asia Institute, University of Melbourne, where he studies post-EDSA literary and cinematic fictions about the national democratic revolution. He is the author of Digmaan ng mga Alaala:

Rebolusyon at Pagkakamali sa mga Talang-Gunita (UP Press, 2021).

Amado Anthony G. Mendoza III is a faculty member in the Departamento ng Filipino at Panitikan ng Pilipinas at the University of the Philippines. His research interests include Indonesian and Vietnamese literature, Southeast Asian political and social movements, and translation studies. His works have appeared in Southeast Asian Studies (CSEAS), JONUS, Asian Books Blog, Likhaan, Daluyan, TOMAS, and Talas. He has also translated the works of Eka Kurniawan, Wiji Thukul, Chairil Anwar, and Tran Dan into Filipino.

Ramon Guillermo is a Professor at the Center for International Studies (CIS) at the University of the Philippines Diliman. His current research projects are on the transmission, dissemination, circulation, reception, and translation of radical texts and ideas in Southeast Asia using techniques and approaches from translation studies and digital humanities. He is the author of several books which include Translation and Revolution: A Study of Jose Rizal's Guillermo Tell (Ateneo de Manila University Press, 2009), Pook at Paninindigan: Kritika ng Pantayong Pananaw ('Site and Standpoint: A Critique of Pantayong Pananaw') (UP Press, 2009) and the novel, Ang Makina ni Mang Turing ('Mister Turing's Machine') (UP Press, 2013).

Shirley O. Lua is an associate professor of literature at De La Salle University (DLSU). She sits on the board of the Manila Critics Circle, which hands out the National Book Awards annually to the best books published in the Philippines; and the Manunuri ng Pelikulang Pilipino, the film critics group that confers the annual Gawad Urian on the best Philippine movies. She wrote the texts in 44 Cineastas Filipinos, a coffee-table book on Filipino filmmakers. She was the associate editor of Direk: Essays on Filipino Filmmakers (DLSU Publishing House and Sussex Academic Press, 2018). She is former director of DLSU Bienvenido N. Santos Creative Writing Center (2011-2017).

Information for Authors

Submission Guidelines

1. Akda welcomes the following article types for publication:
 1. Regular articles: original and unpublished critical essays on literary, cultural and performance texts and scholarship in Asia, which range from 6,000 to 9,000 words (inclusive of abstract, notes and work cited section).
 2. Perspectives articles: exegetical essays on writing and performance and annotated interviews and forum of Asian artists and scholars, which range from 3,000 to 6,000 words (inclusive of abstract, notes and work cited section).
 3. Review articles: reviews of scholarly monographs, and creative, cultural and performance texts in Asia, which range from 1,000 to 2,500 words (inclusive of publication details and work cited section).
1. Submitted articles should not be previously published or under consideration for another journal or publication.
2. The journal accepts Regular and Perspectives articles in Filipino, so long as it is accompanied with a title and abstract translated in English.
3. All articles should follow the most recent style guide from Modern Language Association (MLA), with the work cited section at the end of the document.
4. Submissions should be in MS Word document and in two files. The first file should be the title page containing the title of the article, full name of the author/s, institutional affiliation, email address of corresponding author, abstract (for Regular and Perspectives articles only), which is comprised of 150-250 words with at least four key words, and a short bio/notes of author/s around 50-100 words. The second file should be the anonymized manuscript containing the title and the body of the article, tables and figures on the intended pages/sections in the manuscript and notes and work cited sections. Please ensure that the second file does not contain any identifying marks of the author/s to maintain the integrity of the blind review process.
5. Authors are responsible for securing permission for including in the article any copyrighted material requiring permission.
6. Articles should be submitted as an email attachment to the Editor in Chief (akda@dlsu.edu.ph) or through the Online Submission Portal in the SUBMIT AN ARTICLE section. If you are submitting via email, please provide a cover letter addressed to the Editor in Chief in the body of the email.
7. Articles can be submitted anytime. Once the article receives an acceptance decision from the reviewers, and approved for publication by the editors, it will be queued on a first-come, first served basis, according to the publication schedules of two regular issues (April and October) while undergoing the production process of copyediting and proofreading.
8. There are no submission, processing, and publication fees.

Submission Preparation Checklist:

Before submitting the article, authors are encouraged to check their submission's compliance to the following items:

1. The article has not been previously published, nor previously submitted to another journal or publication for consideration.
2. The article is in Microsoft Word (doc. or docx.) file format.
3. Where available, DOIs and URLs for the references have been provided in the Work Cited section.
4. The article adheres to the following word processing format: double-spaced; uses a 12-point font; employs italics, rather than underlining (except with URL addresses); and all illustrations, figures, and tables are placed within the text at the appropriate points, rather than at the end.
5. The article follows the stylistic and bibliographic requirements of the most recent MLA style.
6. The first Word document is the title page which contains the title of the article, full name of the author, institutional affiliation, email address, abstract (for Regular and Perspectives articles only), which is comprised of 150-250 words with at least four key words, and a short author's bio note around 50-100 words.
7. The second Word document is the anonymized manuscript which bears the title of the article, the body of the article, notes and work cited section, and has no identifying marks of the author

Submissions that do not adhere to these guidelines may be returned to authors.

Editorial Policies

Review Process

Editors evaluate the submitted article's originality and quality before it undergoes the reviewer selection process. Articles are then assessed by two referees who are known experts in the field, who would decide the article's suitability for publication in Akda. After a period of few weeks to a few months, the author/s will receive the reviewer reports. Rejected articles will not be considered for publication while accepted articles would be queued for publication. For articles with a revise and resubmit decision, authors will revise the article and respond to the comments of the reviewers until the article is deemed fit for publication by reviewers and editors. Accepted articles will proceed to copyediting and proofreading in the production stage.

Open Access Policy

Akda provides open access to all of its content towards the end of making research available to the public and increased visibility and accessibility of our authors' works.

Furthermore, Akda does not collect any submission, processing, or publication fees.

Publication Ethics and Malpractice Statement

Akda is committed to publishing articles of high-quality in the spirit of academic and research integrity. All involved in the publication process, including publishers, editors, reviewers, and authors, are expected to strictly adhere to the following publication ethics and malpractice statement.

Editors' responsibilities – The editors screen all submissions and determine which will be forwarded to reviewers based on the originality and quality of content as well as observance of submission guidelines. They select reviewers, considering expertise and relevant qualifications, and ensure confidentiality through a blind-refereeing process. They oversee every step of the publication from the manuscript review to the production process.

Reviewers' responsibilities – The reviewers evaluate the articles, providing written assessments of the manuscript's merits and limitations. They give information on relevant works not cited in the manuscript. They are expected to be objective in their evaluation and must disclose any conflict of interest and recuse themselves from the review process. They uphold the integrity of the blind-refereeing process and follow the schedule as agreed upon with the editorial team.

Authors' responsibilities – Authors must submit articles that have not been previously published or are under review by other journals or publications. They must submit only original articles, following the journal's citation and style guidelines. In case of co-authored articles, authors must provide attribution and agreement from their peers in the submission of their manuscripts for publication. They must disclose funding sources and other possible conflicts of interest. Authors are expected to uphold academic honesty and properly acknowledge sources and provide accurate data and factual information. They are responsible for securing permission for any copyrighted material. They must abide by the schedule for revision and production as set by the editorial team or request for a reasonable extension to avoid manuscript rejection.

Collegiality – Editors, authors, and reviewers are expected to observe collegiality in correspondences and in the exercise of their roles and responsibilities. The schedule as agreed upon with or set by the editorial team must be strictly followed.

Confidentiality – Akda maintains a strict code of confidentiality and information relevant to the review of the submitted manuscript will only be available to the editors.

Publication and Copyrights – Authors are required to review and sign the publication and copyrights agreement before the publication of their manuscripts.

Dealing with misconduct – Akda, including its reviewers and advisory board, reserves the right to determine misconduct and its corresponding sanctions.

