

The Contributors

Rachel C. Reyes is an instructor in the Economics Department of the College of Business and Economics of De La Salle University. She earned her Master of Science in Economics degree from DLSU. She specializes in macroeconomics, mathematical economics, and energy and environment.

Mc Reynald S. Banderlipe II is lecturer in the Accountancy Department of the College of Business and Economics of De La Salle University. He earned his Master of Science in Accountancy degree from DLSU.

Divina M. Edralin is a full professor in the Business Management Department of the College of Business and Economics of De La Salle University. She earned her Doctor of Management degree from DLSU. She specializes in labor relations, human resource management, child labor, and gender.

Emmanuel O. Sales is an associate professor in the Commercial Law Department of the College of Business and Economics of De La Salle University and the legal counsel of the university.

Ernesto L. Bumatay is part of the faculty of the College of Public Affairs of University of the Philippines Los Baños. He specializes in education management and organization and management studies.

Edgardo N. Bolinao is an associate professor in the Business Management Department of the College of Business and Economics of De La Salle University-Manila. He earned his Doctor of Business Administration degree from DLSU. He specializes in production/operations management.

Raymund B. Habaradas is an assistant professor in the Business Management Department of the College of Business and Economics of De La Salle University-Manila. He earned his Master of Business Administration degree from DLSU. He specializes in organization theory, organizational behavior, and organizational communication.